Memorial Day Is Observed Here

Crowds lined city streets Monday for the annual Memorial Day parade which took on a Bicentennial note this year in colors displayed and sentiments expressed. Small bouquets placed on veterans' graves were of red, white and blue carnations.

Larger than usual crowds gathered in Monument Square for a patriotic program following the parade. Patriotic and civic organizations also were well represented in a Memorial Sunday service in Trinity Reformed Church with the Rev. Gordon Van Oostenburg presiding.

Twelve bands were in Monday's line of march, augmented by patriotic orders, city officials, vintage cars, flower girls, choral readers,

He said Pilgrim Home cemetery holds special significance for him since his two grandfathers, Charles Miles and Albert A. Alverson, both Civil War veterans, are buried there, and he recalled watching Memorial Day parades in Holland, accompanied by one grandfather.

He also paid tribute to the World War II and other conflicts and posed a question: "Why do we so often look for peace in time of war and look for war in a time of peace?" He urged a rededication of effort and commitment for those who have sacrificed so much, and was grateful there is a Memorial Day in which the faithful may heed the call.

Dale Van Lente, who presided, told Judge Miles his message was in the tradition of many, many fine speakers who have delivered Memorial Day orations from this rostrum, including one who at that moment was speaking at a service in Arlington, the President of the United States. Gerald R. Ford, then a Congressman, delivered the Memorial Day address here in 1964.

Weekend Deaths Bring Toll to 9

Two Die in County Traffic Accidents

Two persons were killed in separate traffic accidents in Ottawa County during the Memorial Day holiday weekend including one in Holland township. The two deaths boosted the county's traffic toll to nine for the year.

Killed in a single-car accident Sunday at 1:30 a.m. along Douglas Ave. at Van Dyke was Jean Elizabeth Lindblom, 25, of Grand Rapids, a passenger in the car driven by Alan Smith, 25, also of Grand Rapids.

Ottawa County deputies said the car was eastbound on Douglas and failed to negotiate a curve and ran off the roadway and rolled over. The car came to rest on Van Dyke south of Douglas.

The Lindblom woman died in Holland Hospital at 4:01 a.m. Sunday of massive head injuries. Smith was treated in the hospital and released.

Civil Rights Seminar Held At Hope

"The moralism of the 60s has given way to the legalisms of the 70s," Thomas Appel, case supervisor of the enforcement division, State of Michigan Department of Civil Rights, told an audience of approximately 50 local personnel directors.

Sponsored by the City of Holland Human Relations Commission, the seminar at DeWitt Cultural Center stressed the impact of discrimination in employment.

"You used to have to show intent to discriminate," but that is no longer viable, Appel explained. "Now you can be charged with discriminating unintentionally."

"Civil rights can be described as an economic situation," Appel said, citing the cost to employers and the state when equitable solutions are not found prior to court action. "Often cases are settled on cost not merit," he said.

The Civil Rights commission has a positive impact on approximately 45 per cent of the cases which are filed, according to the speaker.

The Civil Rights Commission looks at the consistency with which rules are applied. If there are variations of policy, that is not good," Appel said.

"The evil motive is outdated, most cases are unequal treatment," he added.

Most discrimination takes place in front line supervision... secretaries etc., who don't let people file applications. Most personnel people are pretty decent on affirmative action."

The most difficult cases are now reverse discrimination which falls on white males who are not hired since quotas of females and minority groups must often be filled.

"These are often dismissed if this is the case. If the organization has sufficient women and minority persons in the company we would take the case," Appel said.

Merging Of Offices Is Rejected

ALLEGAN — Allegan County Commissioners Tuesday rejected another attempt to merge the county register of deeds with the county clerk.

Commissioner Ralph Senese of Otsego raised the question during the special meeting and it was voted down 7 to 3. Absent was Vernon Sill of Ganges and abstaining was Dennis Nickels of Wayland. Voting in favor were Senese, Anthony Wykstra of Martin and Jerry Lohman of Hamilton.

Register of deeds Howard Strandt is retiring when his term expires in December and joined Henry Barber of Allegan, president of American National Bank, in urging board members to continue a full-time register of deeds.

Commissioners did cut the salary for the register of deeds and judge of probate beginning January 1. Both positions are to be filled this year. Dwight M. Cheever, probate judge, is not seeking another term.

The register of deeds salary was cut from the current $14,500 to $12,564 next year and the county's contribution to the probate judge was reduced $3,840 for a total salary of $27,500. The state contributes $16,349 and the county is required to provide an amount equal to a third of the state contribution.

The special meeting was called to receive and review applications for allocations from the $302,521 federal revenue sharing fund for July through December.

Excluding a $1.2 million proposal from the county road commission, departmental requests totaled $321,715 for the revenue funds.

Requests include $25,000 for redecorating and additional physical therapy equipment at the county medical care facility; $22,000 for air conditioning for Precious Acres sheltered workshop; $33,300 for rentals and supplies for the computer in the clerk's office; $50,000 for 10 cars for the sheriff's department and $173,125 for a soil survey and aerial mapping program.

Appeal Board Processes 5 Petitions

The Zoning Board of Appeals held four hearings in City Hall Thursday night and acted on another variance which had been postponed since last meeting.

The request of the Rev. Tunis Miersma to erect a one-family dwelling on the southwest corner of 22nd and Van Raalte Ave., was denied. The owner previously had been granted a variance on an east setback and now sought permission to construct a fireplace on the west side, leaving the west setback at four feet instead of six feet.

Ronald J. Giddy's request to use the premises at 351 River Ave., as a law office and living quarters was approved with some conditions.

A request of Gordon M. Buitendorp Associates on behalf of Dr. Lewis De Kuiper to construct a medical office at the southwest corner of Michigan Ave., and 22nd St., was tabled for further study.

Faces Charge Of Police Assault

Lorice Young, 23, of 97 East 18th St., faced arraignment in District Court after he was arrested early Wednesday for allegedly assaulting a police officer.

Police said they were called to a family disturbance at 12:20 a.m. at 339 Washington Blvd. where Young and his wife allegedly were arguing.

Officers said Young raised a karate stick at a policeman but surrendered the stick after the officer confronted him with his night stick and service revolver as other officers arrived. No injuries were reported.

Police Puncture Juvenile's Plans For Rubber Raft

An enterprising juvenile talked three other juveniles into helping him carry away a rubber raft from Reliable Cycle & Ski Haus, 254 River Ave. Sunday but a Holland police officer interfered with his plans.

Officers said the boy told three other juveniles he was a friend of the store owner and had permission to use the raft but needed help in getting it to his house.

Police said the juvenile told the three other youths they could use the raft if they would help carry the raft to his house. They apparently agreed.

Officers said the juvenile acted as "supervisor" while the other three did the work and when a police officer arrived Sunday at 1:01 p.m. in the area of Tenth St. and Pine Ave., the three were holding the raft while the "supervisor" was on the opposite side of the street.

Police said the juveniles, two of them 14, one 12 and one 13, were taken home and referred to juvenile authorities.

COUNT THE KNIVES AND FORKS

The Concorde has finally landed in the United States on a commercial flight. One could say something about this flight which is certainly historical, but there was something else about the flight that caught attention: And we would like to comment.

According to the news there were passengers who simply took with them some of the silverware as souvenirs of the first flight. It wasn't the intention of the airline to hand out this silverware, it was simply taken. Of course one might pass this off as a minor matter. But we would rather not do that. This is known as stealing and normally people are arrested for such infringements of the law.

But there is something else here besides the stealing. This is indicative that the true basis for a good society is taken rather lightly. Obviously the notions of right and wrong are not very deeply rooted. And it is a small step from these adults stealing the knives and forks to corruption in government, and a complete breakdown of integrity. Something is basically wrong.

We are told of the story involving Ben Johnson. At a party there was a man who spoke rather forcefully about his lack of respect for law and legality. Ben Johnson suggested to the host that he had better count the knives and forks before the chap left. Obviously the Concorde people have counted the knives and forks. Now they know.

Two Minutes, Nine Seconds to Clear Case

Police Act Quickly In Armed Robbery

Fast acting Holland police had an armed robbery suspect in custody two minutes and nine seconds after the holdup was reported Wednesday evening and recovered a paper bag of cash and checks and a .22 caliber rifle.

Taken into custody and held for arraignment in District Court was a 22-year-old Holland man. Police declined to release his name pending his court appearance.

Police said a male subject entered the Mini Store West, 220 West Eighth St., and demanded the clerk, David Vanden Bosch, 27, of 630 West 20th St., fill a bag with money from the cash register.

Vanden Bosch did that and observed the subject as he left the store and entered a car parked 20 feet west of the store on the south side of Eighth St. He called police at 7:24 p.m.

Holland detective Maynard Schrotenboer, returning to work along Graafschap Rd. near 24th St., heard a radio description of the car wanted in the holdup and saw a similar car heading south. He radioed back and turned his police car around and gave chase.

Other officers began moving into the area with their police cars including Sgt. Clarence Van Langevelde, 59, of 363 West 22nd St., who was westbound along 32nd St. near Ruth Ave.

Van Langevelde, driving a semi-marked police car with an oscillating red light in the dash, attempted to pass on the left another westbound car as the car made a left turn in front of him. The two collided.

The driver of the other car, Karl James Schuelke, 18, of Lowell, was treated in Holland Hospital and released.

Meanwhile other officers stopped the wanted car in the area of Graafschap Rd. and 64th St. in Laketown township and took the driver into custody without incident. On the floor of the back seat was a .22 caliber rifle.

Found in the car was a paper bag with money.

Play Highlights Program For Resthaven Guild

Resthaven Guild met Friday at the Overisel Christian Reformed Church.

Mrs. Bernard Mulder gave the welcome and the opening prayer and presented devotions with "Prayer" as her theme, emphasizing the importance of an effective prayer life. Several prayer hymns were sung accompanied by Mrs. Delwyn Vander Kamp. Mrs. Mulder read two poems.

The program was a play on the life of the famous hymn writer, Fanny Crosby. Blind from infancy, she began to write poetry at an early age, and later, after she became a Christian, she turned to hymn writing. She married Alex Van Allstine, a musician who wrote much of the music for the 8,500 hymns that she wrote before her death in 1895 at the age of 95.

A quintet, accompanied by Mrs. David Vander Hill, sang some of her hymns throughout the play. Mrs. John Steenwyk directed the play, and narrated, with several young people taking part.

Mrs. Russell Lievense conducted the business meeting, receiving reports from Mrs. Wilma Beukema and Mrs. Margaret Spruit. A mixer and towels were purchased for Resthaven. Mrs. Lievense thanked Mrs. John Wolbert and Mrs. Ben Lemmen who were in charge of the booth for the Resthaven Service League, at the recent Senior Citizens Fair.

The profit of the spring sale amounted to $196. After expressing thanks to the host church, Mrs. Lievense gave a selected reading on Ascension Day.

During the social hour refreshments were served to the 80 women present by the Mesdames Joy Klaasen, Leon Klaasen, Elmer Zoet, Vander Hill, Vander Kamp and Austin Meiste. Door hostesses were Mrs. Jarvis Zoet and Mrs. Stanley Lampen.

Early Birds Hear Talk On Junior High

Needs for a new junior high school for Holland were outlined by Graham Duryee at the last of the season Chamber of Commerce Early Bird breakfast Tuesday in Warm Friend Hotel.

Duryee, a member of the Junior High Speakers Bureau, reinforced his get-out-the-vote message for June 14 with visual aids in the form of slides, flip charts, plot plans and a wealth of other information.

Slides dealt particularly with busy traffic noises, crowded conditions, difficult street crossings and deficiencies in food service, parking, distances between gyms and play fields, and the lack of assembly area.

A brochure entitled "Room to Learn" revealed that the total bond issue calls for $4,893,000 to build and equip a new junior high school in the vicinity of 24th and Plasman and to renovate in part the east unit of the present E. E. Fell Junior High. The present site with two schools covers four acres. The new site is 32 acres.

Overcrowded conditions were perhaps best described in the fact that the two present buildings were erected for a total of 800 students, whereas today some 1,200 students are accommodated in five uncoordinated buildings.

The new school is designed to accommodate 850 students in the eighth and ninth grades, with some 400 seventh graders continuing in the east unit.

Duryee said a Citizens Advisory Council was organized in 1970 to study junior high needs. Two elections in 1973 for two new junior high schools lost by narrow margins. The June 14 election calling for the $4.8 million bond issue is some 33 per cent less than the 1973 total.

As a juvenile officer for the Ottawa sheriff's department, Duryee said he could attest to problems of junior high age in which young people are faced with sometimes traumatic changes in social, behavioral and disciplinary situations.

Duryee was assisted by Charles Bradford, president of the Board of Education, during the question period.
